

Everything Connected - Matt Blais

(Matt Blais & Brian Moncarz)

Turn off the power, Turn up your mind
Trade in your speakers for cellos and chimes
Hope for a smile, A text for a spine
Vintage your life for a while
Not enough brains and not enough heart
Too many ends leaving too many scars
I should have known it from the very beginning
But my head was spinning

No, no, no, no connection
You think we got no, no, no, no connection
Wake up!
We're walking on the edge
Livin' like we're disconnected
Look close, see your reflection in
Everything connected
Reach out,
We're all tied together
Know that and nothing else matters
You can't stop the people or the power of
Everything connected

Get yourself moving, Let yourself go
The ones and zeros mean nothing you know
So many friends but everyone cold
What good is a desolate soul?
Glued to control You're stuck all alone
So many places but nowhere a home
You won't get anything unless you've been giving
While we're livin' life vivid

Pre-Chorus

Chorus:

Feel it slipping away
You try to run, But you can't escape
No other time No other place
Everything is one, and the bonds won't ever break

Chorus: x2
